STAFF NOTES

New contributors featured in this month's Graphics Packet:

Larry Boyd, who worked on the Portland Scribe in Oregon, has been traveling throughout Nicaragua photographing, interviewing and taking part in volunteer work brigades.

Richard Knight is a member of the Southern Africa collective, which produces Southern Africa magazine, and of the staff of the American Committee on Africa. He attended the celebration of the third anniversary of the independent state, the Democratic Arab Saharawi Republic, and he visited the liberated areas of Western Sahara in March of 1979.

Tim Sturm is a free-lance artist who hails from Rochester, New York.

Johanna Vogelsang is an illustrator at Art for People, an art/typesetting collective in Washington, D.C.
